Necessity of Quarantine.

The prevention of much sickness and the saving of many lives can be effected in Richmond county by proper quarantine regulations, as are suggested by the State Board of Health who will assist in their enforcement. The quarantine officer cannot make this effective alone; he must have the co-operation of the good people of the county.

As I understand it the object of isolating patients is to make Richmond county a better place in which to live. I hope no one will so misunderstand this as to think there is the least desire on my part to even intimate that Richmond is not a good county to live in or that it is unprogressive. I have lived here more than ten years, and have come to believe that it is one of the best counties in N. C. The industrial and commercial growth has been rapid and wonderful and I honestly believe that the fault of the county as regards health and sanitation has been that this phase of living has been overlooked in the rapid development of the business interests, and furthermore Richmond county is not the only county in N. C. that has sinned in this direction. Modern science has proved that a large class of diseases, the germ disease, can be prevented and it has been thoroughly demonstrated that an individual, a family, a community or a municipality can by an application of the laws of sanitation and hygiene in a large measure protect itself against unnecessary suffering and disease.

Public health work is largely educational for if the ways by which health may be preserved and safeguarded are demonstrated to an individual, town or community results may always be expected, the time required for results to be brought about depending largely on the intelligence of the citizens or the community. On the other hand, all the facts known to the science of medicine and sanitation unless they are applied to the everyday lives of the people cannot change in any degree the amount of sickness or death. The work then should be to teach the exact facts regarding health and diseases and to suggest the best methods of improving the one and lessening the other.

Now, I want to insist that not only the physicians in the county, but every individual who feels that they are worthy citizens and who are interested in the saving of lives, to report all contagious diseases to me promptly on cards provided by the State Board of Health, that I may enforce the quarantine law and save the lives of hundreds of children who are dying on account of our neglect. Your child may be one of this number.

J. M. MANESS, M. D.
County Quarantine Officer.

Insurance of Soldiers and Sailors.

The act which provides for Government life insurance for soldiers and sailors has now been in operation about seven weeks. Up to Nov. 17th 64,168 applications under the new law had been received, representing insurance in the sum of $552,093,000. From four to six thousand applications are received each day at the Treasury Department, the amount of insurance applied for sometimes reaching a total of fifty million dollars in a single day.

The law provides that soldiers, sailors, marines and nurses in active service may obtain from the Government life insurance in amounts not exceeding $10,000 at premium rates ranging from 65 cents a month at the age of 21 years to $1.20 a month at the age of 51 years, for each $1,000 of insurance.

One of the primary objects of this law is to lessen the tremendous burden of pensions which has followed as a consequence of all American wars.

It is evident that the administration of this new branch of Government work is big business in itself. But this is only one of many governmental activities incident to the war which are adding great numbers of clerks, stenographers, and other servants to Uncle Sam's payroll. Literally thousands of stenographers and typewriters have been appointed in Washington during the past few months and thousands more are to be appointed as soon as they are available.

The United States Civil Service Commission is holding examinations for these positions weekly throughout the country. Secretaries of local boards of civil service examiners at the post offices in all cities are furnishing detailed information.
